

Research on human remains from Polish excavations in Africa and the Near East

Conference Programme
9 December 2016

10:00 - 10:05 opening

Session 1

10:05 - 11:45

A Possible Cereal Grinder at Tell Arbid, Syria

Mindy C. Pitre, Rafał Koliński, Arkadiusz Sołtysiak

Diet and subsistence at Tell Arbid, Syria, in the Early and Middle Bronze Age

Arkadiusz Sołtysiak

Refleksje na temat ludności dawnej i współczesnej Palmyreny

Karol Piasecki

Gird-i Shamlu 2016: research aims and first results

Rafał A. Fetner

11:45 - 12:15 coffee break

Session 2

12:15 - 13:30

The Monastic Cemetery (Cemetery 2) at Deir el-Ghazali, Sudan

Robert J. Stark, Joanna Ciesielska

Przypadek przyżyciowej trepanacji czaszki z neolitycznej osady w Khor Shambat (Sudan)

Łukasz M. Stanaszek

The state of bioarchaeology in Georgia

Isabelle Coupal

13:30 - 15:30 lunch break

UNIVERSITY
OF WARSAW

Polish Centre of Mediterranean Archaeology

Session 3

15:30 - 17:35

Looks can be deceiving: Fake and composite mummies from the Ptolemaic cemetery at Saqqara, Egypt

Iwona Kozieradzka-Ogunmakin

Dental microwear analysis based on material from Egyptian part of skeletal collection in Duckworth Laboratory, Cambridge, and from excavations at Tell el-Retaba

Agata Bebel

Lives short lived: Child morbidity and mortality in the ancient region of Memphis, Egypt, in the Ptolemaic Period (332–30 BC), based on skeletal evidence from the Saqqara necropolis

Iwona Kozieradzka-Ogunmakin

Stature estimation in the medieval population of Deir an-Naqlun

Elżbieta Jaskulska

Stature of inhabitants of the Medieval Alexandria. A view from Kom el-Dikka

Robert Mahler

17:35 - 18:00 coffee break

Special lecture

18:00 - 19:30

History of and recent trends in bioarchaeological research in the Nile Valley and the Levant

Jerome C. Rose

19:30 - 19:35 conclusion

UNIVERSITY
OF WARSAW

Polish Centre of
Mediterranean Archaeology

