

CONTENTS

PREFACE by Karol Myśliwiec	11
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	13
ABBREVIATIONS	15
ABBREVIATIONS FOR COLLECTIONS AND PROVENIENCES OF LAMPS	20
INTRODUCTION	23
General remarks	23
Classification principles	24
Lamp fabrics and their descriptions	26
Conventions	27
TYPOLOGY OF THE LAMPS FROM TELL ATRIB	29
TA I. Wheel-made lamps	29
TA I.1. “Open” (“saucer”) lamp with pinched spout	29
TA I.2. “Chimney” lamps (the lamps with central tube)	30
TA I.3. Lamps corresponding to Athenian Howland Type 25 B Prime	31
TA I.4. Lamps with flat-topped nozzle, concave base, side lug on shoulder	32
TA I.5. Lamp with very short flat-topped nozzle, flat raised base and side lug	33
TA I.6. Egyptian descendants of Howland Type 25 D Prime	34
TA I.7. Shallow body on flat raised base; convex ring around filling hole, flat-topped nozzle, no side lug	35
TA I.3-I.7. Fragmentary lamps with flat-topped nozzle (no base parts preserved)	36
TA I.8. Globular body on ring base; convex ring around filling hole, flat-topped nozzle, no side lug	36
TA I.9. Lamps with convex-topped nozzle and concave base (Rhodian type)	37
TA I.10. Related to Rhodian type; collar-like edge around the filling hole cavity and strap handle	42
TA I.11. Lamps with a very short convex-topped nozzle; base concave underneath	42
TA I.12. Lugless lamp, body rounded in section, standing on flat base	43

TA II. Hellenistic period mould-made lamps.	44
TA II.1. Lamps corresponding to Alexandrian Type A	44
TA II.1.a. Lamps standing on concave bases.	46
TA II.1.b. Lamps standing on ring bases	49
TA II.1.c. Lamps standing on flat circular bases	54
TA II.1.d. Lamps without any base preserved	56
TA II.2. Decorated variety of Alexandrian Type A and its developments	57
TA II.3. Alexandrian Type L-Prime	59
TA II.4. Alexandrian Type B	60
TA II.4.a. Subtype B.a	61
TA II.4.b. Subtype B.b	62
TA II.4.c. Subtype B.c	65
TA II.5. Alexandrian Type J.	68
TA II.6. Alexandrian Type K	70
TA II.6.a. Subtype K.a.	70
TA II.6.b. Subtype K.b.	71
TA II.7. Alexandrian Type L	75
TA II.8. Alexandrian Type M.	77
TA II.8.a. Subtype M.a.	77
TA II.8.b. Subtype M.b.	78
TA II.9. Alexandrian Type D	80
TA II.10. Imitation of a bronze lamp, Early Hellenistic	83
TA II.11. Alexandrian Type F	83
TA II.12. Alexandrian Type G	88
TA II.13. Alexandrian Type F/G	93
TA II.14. Alexandrian Type H	94
TA II.15. Alexandrian Types E and E-Prime.	96
TA II.15.a. Type E	96
TA II.15.b-d. Type E-Prime.	97
TA II.15.b. Subtype E-Prime.c.1	98
TA II.15.c. Subtype E-Prime.c.2	99
TA II.15.d. Subtype E-Prime.c.3	103
TA II.16. Alexandrian Type P-Prime	105
TA II.17. Alexandrian Type P	106
TA II.18. Alexandrian Types O and O-Prime	109
TA II.18.a. Alexandrian Type O	109
TA II.18.b. Alexandrian Type O-Prime	111
TA II.19. Alexandrian Type O/P: variant with handle.	113

TA II.20. “Jug” lamps, Hellenistic mould-made	114
TA II.21. Mould-made Hellenistic lamps of unidentified type	115
TA II.22. Late Hellenistic lamps, imported from outside Egypt	116
TA II.23. Miscellaneous “transitional period” lamps, 1st century BC/ 1st century AD	117
 TA III. Roman period lamps of “Neo-Hellenistic” types	 118
TA III.1. Developments of Alexandrian Type M	119
TA III.2. Alexandrian Type S and its development	122
TA III.2.a. Moulds for Type S and lamps which might have been made in them	 124
TA III.2.b. Direct development of Type S	127
TA III.3. Ovoid lamps	129
 TA IV. Multi-nozzlers and plastic lamps	 137
TA IV.1. Multi-nozzlers	137
TA IV.2. Plastic lamps	139
TA IV.2.a. Lamps shaped as figurines	139
TA IV.2.b. Boat-shaped lamps	140
TA IV.2.c. Stemmed lamps on feet	141
 TA V. Roman period lamps of Italian types	 145
TA V.1. LT I	145
TA V.2. LT IV	146
TA V.3. LT III	146
TA V.3.a. Triangular handle attachments	147
TA V.3.b. Bilobed handle attachments	148
TA V.3.c. Other forms of handle attachments	151
TA V.4. Italian types, handleless	152
TA V.4.a. Bailey Type F	152
TA V.4.b. LT VIII versions, handleless	153
TA V.5. LT VIII versions, with handles	154
TA V.5.a. Heart-shaped nozzle	154
TA V.5.b. Simple nozzle with transverse volutes	155
TA V.5.c. Simple nozzle separated from shoulder by three miniature buttons arranged in a line	 155
TA V.5.d. U-shaped nozzle with three buttons	157
TA V.5.e. Trapezoid nozzle	157
TA V.5.f. Simple (plain) nozzle	158

TA V.6. Lamps of LT VIII with handles, no nozzle parts preserved	159
TA V.6.a. Standard Egyptian-type handles.	159
TA V.6.b. Ornamented handles.	160
TA V.7. Variant of LT VIII with a stub handle	161
TA VI. Miscellaneous votive(?) lamp.	162
TA VII. Roman period Italian-type lamp fragments, unclassified	163
Addendum: Hellenistic period lamps (excavated in 1998-1999), whose fragmentary state of preservation and documentation does not allow for identification of their manufacturing technique	165
SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS.	167
APPENDICES.	170
Appendix 1. Co-occurrence of the lamp types in dated contexts at Tell Atrib.	170
Appendix 2. Chronological distribution of lamp types in Tell Atrib	172
Appendix 3. Concordance of register numbers and serial numbers in the present publication.	174
LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS	177
Figures (line drawings).	177
Photographic plates.	179
Colour plates.	180